Richmond's Shinola Shines Coming to Fresno

[Special to The Richmond Terminal].
Fresno, Feb. 16.—The Shinola Shines of Richmond Lodge of Elks will play an engagement in this city February 25. Elaborate arrangements are being made by Fresno Lodge of Elks to entertain the large crowd. The largest hall in Fresno has been secured for the occasion. It is expected that over one thousand visiting Elks will be in attendance.

Richmond's Factories

Richmond has forty factories, employing 5000 persons. The capital invested in these industries totals $31,649,000, with a payroll of $8,014,000. These industries turn out manufactured products to the value of $75,316,000.
That the industrial enlargement of Richmond will double in the next five years is assured. Harbor development and the permanent improvements in the way of taking care of shipping, are ocular proof to those who have watched the development of ports of entry similar to that of Richmond.

Forty-Seventh Street Needs Improvement

The city council Monday night discussed the improvement of 47th street between Cutting and Portero. The improvement of the street is badly needed, as there is no outlet for fire protection to the schools and factories. On account of the small value of lots fronting on the street, the cost would practically confiscate the property. It is said lots there are quoted at $150. The cost of improvement would entail an assessment of $600 against each lot, it is said.
The improvement will cost approximately $12,000 for an 18-foot strip. The city may pay from the general fund the major portion of the cost. It is argued that this would be less expensive than repairing fire trucks, etc.

Fourth Street May Be Opened to Traffic

The city council at Monday night's session decided to open the Fourth street crossing over the Oakland branch of the Santa Fe right of way. All property owners favor the opening of the street. Plans for the work will be submitted by City Engineer Chapman at the next meeting of the council.

City Treasury Funds

City Auditor Nettie Whitesides in her report submitted at Monday night's council meeting stated that the amount of money in the city treasury was $343,871.59.

Want Streets Closed

The Pacific Sanitary Manufacturing Co. has petitioned the city council requesting that certain portions of Daus and Monroe streets in the northern part of the city be closed.

President Asks Delay in Acting On Bonus

Washington, Feb. 16.—President Harding today in his letter to Chairman Fordney of the house ways and means committee expressed his opposition to the piecemeal payment plan and the issuance of short time securities to meet the bonus.
Unless congress is willing to adopt the sales tax plan, it is believed the soldier bonus will fail to pass.

War Department To Cut Force

Washington, Feb. 16.—By direction of Secretary of War Weeks there will be another cut in the force of civilian employees of the War department in the District of Columbia. According to the announcement, between now and June 30th, 940 employees are to be dropped. The reduction includes 400 employees in the adjutant general's office, 350 in the quartermaster general's office, 100 in the air service and the rest of the reduction in other branches of the department. This will reduce the total civilian force of the war department to less than 5000.

German Industries

Washington, Feb. 16.—Trade reports issued by the German government show that for the first time since 1913 German exports are in excess of German imports. The reports show that German industries are working at capacity in an effort to keep up with the orders from foreign countries. The heaviest exports were in leather goods, paper, pulp and manufactures thereof, pottery, machinery and electrical products.

Henry Heuer's Trial Set For March 21

Martinez, Feb. 15.—Henry Heuer, charged with the murder of Manuel Cabral, was brought into superior court here yesterday. He entered a plea of not guilty. Date of trial was set for March 21. Heuer's attorneys, Pierce & Carlson, would make no statement as to their plans of defense.

Bank Wins $65,000 Foreclosure Suit

Martinez, Feb. 16.—Judge A. B. McKenzie yesterday upheld the suit of the Bank of Yolo for foreclosure on property in the Berkeley Highland Terrace tract near Richmond, to satisfy a note for $65,500 alleged to have been made to the bank by the land company. The property will be sold by an executor appointed by the court.

If reports from the east are to be accredited foreign immigration to this country is astounding. The United States is surely the Utopia. Why not send back a few more of the undesirables in exchange for a "better quality?"

Miss Downer to Be Married

Pinole, Feb. 16.—The engagement of Miss Hazel Downer, daughter of E. M. Downer, to George Thornton, Jr., of Vallejo, has been announced. The wedding will take place this spring.

Edison's 75th Birthday He Says Prepare For War

Orange, N. J., Feb. 16.—Edison celebrated his 75th birthday by being on the job when the whistle blew. He said that birthdays were too common for demonstrations; he believed in getting busy.
In speaking of war, Edison said he believed in being ready, so as to give the other fellow a dose of his own medicine in case he got gay. He believes in having big guns, and not to forget how to make them. He thought natural gas was a convincing argument, and that we should have every piece of human devilry available and know how to use them and be prepared in seven days time to "go to the bat."

Subway Improvement Hangs Fire

On account of illness, Mayor Garrard and City Engineer Chapman were absent from council meeting Monday night. The subway matter was deferred on account of their absence. Councilman Lane acted as chairman of the council.

Junior Elks Cross the Bay

Richmond Junior Elks to the number of about 50 went to San Francisco Wednesday night and installed the officers of a junior lodge in that city. Richmond Junior Lodge of Elks has a membership of nearly one hundred, all 100 per cent young Americans.

City in Brief

Charlie Mallory, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mallory of 5 Chanslor avenue, arrived home from San Bernardino Monday. Charlie enlisted in the aviation service two years ago. He received his honorable discharge last week.

The funeral of Hugh Harper, aged 72, retired farmer, who resided at Cutting and San Pablo, was held yesterday, interment being made at Sunset cemetery.

Gus Johnson, who has been confined to his bed with an attack of la grippe, is on duty again at his popular Quick Lunch eating place.

Richmond schools will close Wednesday and observe Washington's birthday.

The grand jury now in session at Martinez is expected to submit its final report today.

Facts About the Telephone

The first long distance telephone line, 45 miles long, between Boston and Providence, was opened in 1882.

During the war, the Bell System supplied the government with more than 7500 miles of telephone circuits and 25,000 miles of telegraph circuits for its exclusive use.

It is estimated that during 1921, the telephone companies in the United States expended for increased plant and equipment nearly $200,000,000.

There are in the United States today more than thirteen and three-quarter millions of telephones. This is an average of 12.7 telephones for every 100 persons or, put another way, better than one telephone for every eight people. From a telephone standpoint this country is by far the best developed in the world. In fact, no other country is even a close second.

It was in THE TERMINAL.

Key Route Railway May Build Line to Goat Island

Washington, Feb. 9.—Application has been filed here with the secretary of war by the Key Route System of Oakland to extend its bay trestle line to Goat Island. If permission is granted by the government, the distance by water from Oakland to San Francisco would be shortened nearly two miles and would reduce the present time in crossing the bay nearly one-half.

Why Two Supervisors?

By Taxpayer
The movement by the realty dealers to divide the first supervisorial district and have two representatives on the board of supervisors instead of one, has not received the desired "momentum" as a campaign issue—in fact, the tax-paying public is indifferent and timid about experimenting or trying out anything new; they are content to let well enough alone. The question is pointedly asked: Why two supervisors when one satisfactorily fills the position and efficiently performs all the duties pertaining thereto.

Supervisor Zeb Knott was elected by an overwhelming majority four years ago and had only the support of one of the four newspapers of Richmond, "The Richmond Terminal." It is conceded that Zeb cannot be defeated—that he is too popular. This may answer the query: Why another supervisor?

The tendency of the times is to eliminate duplication of officials and trim the expenses of government, that the people may not continue to be tax ridden and their property practically confiscated. The day is not far distant when the bay cities must concentrate under one government, and instead of employing six or eight sets of officials, a duplication that is strongly favored by the jobholders and their subordinates, one corps of efficient employees will fill all requirements.

It is claimed by certain political aspirants that Richmond does not get a fair break, according to the amount of taxes contributed. The highways and paved roads are all completed, and Supervisor Knott saw that we got them. The schools and highways are important factors in the building up of any community, and the tax rate will decrease with the payment of the bonds.

The question then naturally arises: Why two supervisors where one is filling the bill satisfactorily?

Old St Says It's a Wet Year
Old St of Tule avenue near the inner harbor, when asked whether he thought 1922 would be a "wet" year, replied:

"Y-a-a-s, it's a clinch. Since the bootleggers have appointed an inspector of stills, the prospects are first-class. Ya see, there's some perfection now. The bootleggers now have a powerful organization, and the still operators kin go ahead and manufacture with some assurance of safety."

The rumor that in case the Wright act should fail to carry, all foreign-born bootleggers would be deported, seems to have no authentic backing. Congress could modify this suggested measure by including the entire assortment of bootleggers without discrimination. Why should an American-born bootlegger have the "edge" on the "foreign species?"

Old Pluve's Generous Downpour Quiets "Agitators"

San Pablo reservoir has jumped the water mark five feet on account of the heavy rains this week. It is reported there are 500 million gallons more water in the big dam reservoir than there was a week ago. The same condition prevails at Lake Chabot.

The rainfall for the season now exceeds 16 inches, which it is said has assured an adequate water supply for 1922-23.

Old Resident Passes

Walnut Creek, Feb. 16.—One of the oldest residents of Contra Costa county, Mrs. James Walker, passed away at her home here Friday. She was 83 years of age and had lived in this county over a half century.

En Passant

By Our Special Writer
If only Germany and Russia were satisfied parties to the new treaty the prospect for an ensuing hundred years of peace would be most comforting.

The coal and wood man is sitting on the long end of the teeter during these days, while the ice-man waits for May and June to roll along.

Reports of committees or no reports, how would you like to know that your own daughter was living in a great voracious city on a "minimum wage," say thirteen or fourteen dollars a week? And, mind you, unskilled men are getting four dollars a day.

James F. Hoey, recently appointed deputy district attorney, is a valuable addition to District Attorney Tinning's office. Attorney James Hoey is widely acquainted and has many friends in all parts of the state as well as in his home county who admire him for his sterling qualities and his ambition to get there.

San Francisco's chairman of the board of supervisors tenders fifty thousand dollars of city funds toward securing a site for a live stock show in that city. No sane man would deny the benefits of such a site. There is however always a question as to the right of city officials to appropriate public funds in accordance with their own ideas. The practice encourages officials, and private citizens, to look upon the public purse as a public grab-bag. The nearer in caliber to Mr. Le Laren, is the official, the more deplorable is the example.

In the Shadow

The Cloverdale Reveille of Feb. 3, pays the following tribute to baby Jack Crow, who died Feb. 2, 1922:

"The spirit of little Vernon Jack Crow has winged its way to the realms of tearless joy. To the sorrowing parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crow, is extended the sympathy of many friends here and at Richmond, their former home. Little Jack was aged three years and two months. A brief earthly life, but what a void it left in the lonely hearts when it departed."

Forty-Three States Enforce Prohibition

Law Enforcement Department
THE 18TH AMENDMENT
"SEC. 1. . . the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof, for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited."
"SEC. 2. The Congress and the several States shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."
EDITED BY CHARLES H. RANDALL
Prohibition Member of Congress 1915-1919.

Contract Approved by Richmond City Council

The mayor and city clerk have been given authority by the city council to execute a contract with Richmond health center and pay the latter out of the city funds $1000 by March 1; $1000 to be paid by April 1, and $300 each month thereafter for a period of one year.
It is understood that the county will appropriate $5000 under the same terms and conditions as those entered into with the city.
It is thought these appropriations will put the clinic on a sound financial basis from the start and guarantee its success.

Firemen's Ball

Richmond firemen have announced that their annual ball will take place at East Shore Park April 22. Chick Barry's orchestra has been engaged.
The ball will be held at 8 o'clock, and other peace officers and their deputies will begin immediately to co-operate with the federal officers, as contemplated by the Eighteenth Amendment to the constitution.
The Wright Act will appear on the ballot this year. If you are a loyal upholder of the laws of your country, no matter whether you voted for or against prohibition, then you must candidly consider what action you will take, freed from your personal desires in the matter.
The Supreme Court of the United States has repeatedly upheld the procedure used in adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment and every attack upon the amendment and upon the Volstead law has been set aside as futile by the same court.

Five States Have Failed to Comply With Volstead Law

California One of the Five Delinquents; Wright Act Adds Additional Penalties
If prohibition is an accomplished law through the Eighteenth Amendment, why this agitation for the Wright Prohibition Enforcement Act in California? It prohibition is the law of the land, why is it necessary for California voters to decide for or against another law on the subject?
This question is naturally being asked by thousands of people. They deserve a frank and truthful answer.
An amendment to the constitution of the United States, to be made effective, often requires additional legislation to provide penalties for violation and official court machinery for its operation. The Eighteenth Amendment, by the language of Section 2, recognized this necessity. Realizing that the termination of a gigantic traffic like the liquor business would require the co-operation of all executive officers, state and federal, the Eighteenth Amendment authorized such co-operation through congressional and state legislation.
Congress acted promptly by passing the Volstead law. Forty-three state legislatures have also adopted state laws enforcing national prohibition. Five states have failed, including California.

What is the result as it affects California? Simply that the meager number of forty federal enforcement officers are trying to operate the Eighteenth Amendment in California. If California will adopt the Wright Enforcement Act, then more than two thousand sheriffs,

DENBY URGES NAVAL BASE BE ACCEPTED

Appeals to Congress to Approve Alameda Site and Provide Funds

Oakland.—Another move by the naval establishment looking to the ultimate establishment of a Pacific naval base at Alameda was made last week, according to a Washington dispatch, with a request by Secretary Denby that the government accept the site at Alameda.

Denby made his request of Congress, asking that the department be given the authority to accept the site, together with one offered for a submarine base at San Pedro, and one for a heavier than air aviation station at Sand Point, Wash.

The Alameda site was originally tendered to the government with a two-year time clause and accepted officially, the deed changing hands with some ceremony. Delay in congressional decision concerning the initial appropriation which would start work on the base, the halting of naval programs by the conference for the limitation of armament, and other considerations caused the time to elapse with no work having been started.

In his recommendation to Congress Charles G. Dawes, in charge of the national budget, included the Alameda item. Secretary Denby and the navy general board as well as all the leading members of the Senate and House naval affairs committees have said that the naval holiday will leave the United States the best balanced navy in its history and that the need of a great base in the Central Pacific is in no way removed.

The naval program contemplates the Alameda base and the Navy Department is desirous of being in position to start work on it whenever Congress will appropriate the money. That such an appropriation may come before Congress soon is indicated by the fact that Denby is preparing the way.

In a letter to Speaker Gillett urging prompt congressional action in authorizing acceptance of the site Denby said they had been "closely examined by naval experts and found to be the most desirable for the purpose for which they are required."

Budget estimates submitted to Congress at the beginning of the present session call for an expenditure of $100,000 at each place, but preparation of the annual naval appropriation bill, which would carry the items, if approved by the House appropriations committee, has not yet begun.

HEAVY GALE DAMAGES HOMES IN BAY REGION

San Jose.—Wind and rain of an extraordinarily heavy nature swept San Jose and Santa Clara valley last week, doing damage to a considerable extent.

The wind uprooted hundreds of trees throughout the valley and many in the city. One huge tree in North Thirteenth street was blown down, breaking 40 wires of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company and resulting in a tieup for several hours of telephone communication to the north. A crew of 15 workmen was pressed into service to repair the break.

In the city hall park several trees fell, while one tree fell upon the top of a Italian street car, stopping it and throwing passengers into a state of confusion in the darkness.

$2,000,000 VETERAN HOSPITAL, LIVERMORE

Livermore.—Construction of a $2,000,000 hospital for the treatment of tubercular ex-soldiers is about to be commenced in the Livermore valley by the United States Government.

Plans for the project became known at Livermore last week when the government completed the purchase of the Lucien B. Johnson ranch of 200 acres, four miles from the town of Livermore, as the site for the institution.

The deal was handled by Major Louis T. Grant, director of the United States Veterans' Bureau in San Francisco, who is in charge of the rehabilitation and hospitalization of ex-service men in the States of California, Nevada and Arizona, comprising the Twelfth District.

STAGE LINE DEPOT AT TURLOCK ROBBED

Turlock.—The office of the California Transport Company was held up one night last week by armed and masked bandits, who rifled two cash registers and slugged a restaurant owner. The depot agent sent his hands aloft, but E. Wixson endeavored to save his money, when one of the gang sent a bullet through the ceiling as a warning and then hit Wixson on the head, making a nasty gash. Police found an auto stolen from Modesto near the scene of the hold up.

GARMENTS OF GIRL FOUND HINT MURDER

Discovery of Complete Outfit Near Marin Co. Fort Leads to Search

San Rafael.—Possible murder of a young, well-dressed woman in an abandoned powder magazine just inside the gates of Fort Baker, along the road leading from Sausalito, is being investigated by Sheriff J. J. Keating of Marin county.

The investigation was begun last week after Miss Anna Siems, 24, of 420 Main street, Sausalito, reported having discovered in the unused building complete apparel of a woman from shoes to tam-o'-shanter. Miss Siems told Sheriff Keating that the clothing found in the roofless shack gave evidence of a fierce struggle as the clothing indicated that it had been torn from the body of the girl whose identity the Marin county authorities will attempt to establish.

Fresh footprints of a man were discerned about the old magazine, which led to the bay, a short distance over the crest of the hill, upon which the wreck of the building stands.

In the desolate old building which lonesomely overlooks the bay and is a quarter of a mile from any habitable place, Miss Siems said, she discovered the following pieces of woman's wearing apparel:

Navy-blue serge skirt, tricolored blouse, embroidered in colors; black satin petticoat of blue floral design; black tam-o'-shanter straw hat, with black bow; high brown shoes, size 3, with faint print "Made in Klamath Falls"; brown cotton stockings; one gray suede glove, No. 6; heart-shaped vanity case, broken in two.

BRIDGE ROW TO BE TAKEN TO GOVERNOR

San Mateo County Men Will Ask Executive to Remove Moody

San Mateo.—Daniel C. Imboden, manager of the Three Cities Chamber of Commerce, and John J. McGrath, president of the Peninsula Chamber of Commerce and civic associations, announced last week that a special delegation of more than 200 citizens of San Mateo, Hillsborough and Burlingame, will go to Sacramento this week to request the removal of the State Harbor Board. The delegates will carry to Governor Stephens a petition signed by men and women, all of them representatives of civic organizations from Menlo Park to Hillsborough, said the officials.

The move, it was stated, arose out of the controversy pending before the Railroad Commission in which the Harbor Board, the Moody estate and another property owner seek to compel the Southern Pacific to erect a $1,000,000 drawbridge at Seventh and Channel streets. The construction of the drawbridge would, it is averred, give a waterway to the Moody estate, but would impair the service of the Southern Pacific lines to the peninsula.

A special hearing of the Railroad Commission is scheduled for March 6. Representatives from the civic organizations of the peninsula are planning to be present.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of Hillsborough, Arthur Hedington, their attorney, was instructed to utter a primal protest against the building of the drawbridge.

RECRUITING RESUMED IN U. S. MARINE CORPS

San Francisco.—Recruiting for all branches of the U. S. Marine Corps has been resumed after a lapse of the past two months, pursuant to orders from Washington received at the local Marine Corps Recruiting Station at 660 Market street last week. Quotas of men to be accepted during the coming months are unusually small, presumably owing to the recent agreements upon the limitation of armament. The high mental and physical standards required by the Marines in the past are to be strictly adhered to. Only men of unquestionable moral fitness, who are at least twenty years of age, sixty-five inches tall, weigh not less than 130 pounds, and are in sound physical condition, will be considered, whether applicants for original enlistment or for re-enlistment from the army and navy. Of former service men, none may be accepted whose character on final discharge is noted as other than "Excellent."

HETCH HETCHY FIRE THREATENS RAILROAD

Groveland.—Fire which broke out in the machine shops threatened to destroy the work of the Hetch Hetchy railroad and its big warehouse last week. The flames were subdued after an hour's hard work by the volunteer fire department. The loss is small. The fire was caused by a flareback on a gasoline torch in the locomotive shop. A machinist narrowly escaped incineration, when the gasoline spraying over him took fire. Only the presence of mind of E. Coyne, a helper, saved his life. Coyne promptly turned a chemical extinguisher on him. The mechanic was only slightly burned.

The trustees fear they are technical violators of the Volstead act, in that they acquired the still and mash as part of an investment and not through a police raid.

San Francisco.—A Southern Pacific train arrived last week with 27 Orientals, and one Mexican from the Southern border, all consigned to Angel Island, there to await extradition to their various homes. The aliens were in charge of Edward L. Kline of the Department of Labor. The majority of those in custody are Chinese, who had been smuggled into the United States from Mexico.

Redding.—Isaac Sylvester of Platina, in the southeastern part of Shasta county, believes he has found a remarkable ledge carrying gold and platinum. Considerable platinum has been obtained on Geegum Creek by placer mining, but it was never before found in ore. Assays return $48 in gold and $37 in platinum. The ledge is small but none the less unusual.

Modesto.—Seventy men will be at work on the new ice plant of the Santa Fe at Riverbank, it has been announced by the contractors. Materials for the plant have begun to arrive in quantities. Forty men are already working. The rest of the force has been employed. The first car of reinforced steel has arrived from Gary. It will require in all about 240 carloads of materials to complete the work.

Modesto.—P. E. Bowles, president of the American National bank of San Francisco and of the First National and the First Savings banks of Oakland, has been elected president of the New Staislaus County bank, which will open for business here February 20. F. W. Hosmer, who recently resigned as chairman of the advisory board of the Modesto branch of the Bank of Italy, will be vice-president and cashier. Other officials are: George M. Bowles, secretary and treasurer; H. R. Gaither, O. D. Jacoby, P. A. Dinsmore and Roger Sherman.

LIGHTNING SETS FIRE TO GOVERNOR'S HOME

Mrs. Stephens and Daughter in Mansion Library When Bolt Hits

Sacramento.—A bolt of lightning struck the governor's mansion here last week, firing a cupola of the building known as the "Tower" and exploding telephone wires in the rooms below.

No one was injured and the blaze was extinguished by the fire department before it had gained material headway.

Governor W. D. Stephens was at his office, but both Mrs. Stephens and her daughter, Mrs. John S. Osborn, were in the library of the mansion when the electric storm swept down upon the gubernatorial residence.

Ornamental iron framework surrounding the "Tower" is believed to have attracted the electric shock which came during one of the most severe thunderstorms that has ever visited this city. A heavy downpour which turned into a violent hail storm preceded the thunder and lightning.

CHICO SCHOOL HEAD 'CHAMP' AT MARBLES

Plays 'Em for Keeps and Has Pockets Full; Is Challenged by Dean

Chico.—The ancient and honorable pastime of marble playing now hailed as a weight reducer, is fast assuming the proportions of a craze on the campus of the Chico High School and the State Teachers' College adjoining.

Since Principal "Jim" Ferguson of the high school challenged "Peanut" Holmes, one of his scholars, to a game for "keeps" about three weeks ago, the campus has been crowded with marble players during the noonday recess, after school and before the first assembly bell sounds.

In the past few weeks Ferguson has played practically every student in the school—700 in all—and as a result his pockets are bulging out with marbles. Not the ordinary crockery variety, either. Some of the finest treasured agates have been gathered in by Principal Ferguson in his conquest among his charges.

BLUFF IS CALLED BY RANCHER THEN SHOT

Salinas.—Charles Buzon, San Miguel rancher, is in the local hospital with a gunshot wound in the leg as the result of trying to run a bluff on a neighboring farmer, "Bat" Hickey.

Buzon is said to have gone to Hickey's place and knocked loudly on the door to arouse Hickey from sleep, and to demand admittance. When Hickey went to the door, Buzon is alleged to have said he was going to kill him. Hickey asked permission to dress first and the wish was granted. When Hickey had dressed he asked Buzon what he intended to do and Buzon is said to have replied he meant to kill him, and placed his hand in a menacing manner upon his hip. Hickey reached behind the door where he kept his shotgun and fired at Buzon, he told the officers. The shot went through the calf of Buzon's left leg. Hickey ran to him and turned him over, expecting to find a revolver in his hip pocket, but found Buzon was unarmed. Hickey rushed for aid and notified the officers.

Hickey is a man of 70 years of age and lives alone. The alleged cause of the shooting affray was over a single-tree which Buzon wanted to borrow from Hickey and which Hickey refused to let him have. The officers did not arrest Hickey, but told him to appear when wanted.

ELKS' LODGE IN SAN LEANDRO PETITIONED FOR

San Leandro.—A branch organization of the Elks' lodge in San Leandro may become an actuality, according to proponents of the local drive. The matter has been under discussion for a long time, arising shortly before the war. Headed by Dr. I. Michaels, James Hendrickson, Marvin Bradley, Henry Seramur, W. F. Gannon and E. G. Roach, the movement has aroused much interest in San Leandro, and it is stated by those interested that there is hardly a doubt but that it will be successful. Redding.—The city board of supervisors has passed a "Little Volstead Act," under which the city authorities will assist in the enforcement of prohibition.

Sawtle.—The shoe laces of Chief of Police Charles E. Dice of Sawtle saved his life last week when they became untied. He was at a fire. He stooped to tie the laces. Immediately after he had stopped a heavy, blazing timber fell in line with the space where his head had been.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

WHAT CAN YOU DO?

TO MASTER despair, to look beyond the earth, to minister to the suffering, to venture forth into fields of thought still unsurveyed, are achievements which call for the highest types of human quality.

The doing of such things as these develop strength of purpose and beautiful character. They enlarge the heart and mind, open new vistas where scenes are changing constantly, give exquisite pleasures, besides storing the soul with knowledge found only in pursuit of the Infinite.

Can you do any one of them and acquit yourself satisfactorily?

Have you the fine patience and the penetrating vision on which you can rely when put to the test?

Going round and round, day after day, takes to nowhere beyond a weekly pittance.

The man or woman who in his or her own strength breaks through routine methods and keeps looking for substance rather than "such stuff as dreams are made of," is doing something along this line.

Both are moving towards a new world, where there is no boundary to opportunity and no limit in the field of operation.

Though up-hill intimacies are without charm of freedom, of which youths of the present seek more than is good for their bodies and souls, these close associations with difficulties, accompanied with earnest work, take by easy stages to great heights.

Up hill intimacies!
Are you, young man and woman, familiar with them?

Do you hold communion beneath the evening lamp with instructive, uplifting books, instead of idling your time in frivolous amusements that gnaw regularly great holes in your weekly or monthly earnings?

If you do, you will come in some solitary night of your study and meditation, face to face with smiling Hope, holding her torch high to light and cheer your way.

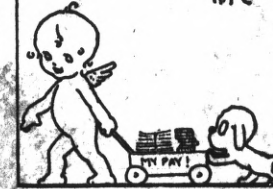

Then you will drink in the inspiring ether of the higher altitude and feel commendably proud in the thought that this big world is reserving a place for you, where you may sit among the honored guests at a bountiful table.

Success rests on just such a basis as this; it is nature's way of making choice and bestowing reward. Unless you pull yourself up from the lowlands you never will know the joys of a heroic life.

YOUR HAND

How to Read Your Characteristics and Tendencies—The Capabilities or Weaknesses That Make for Success or Failure as Shown in Your Palm.

THE HAND OF A SAILOR

THE hand of a successful sailor should be strong, short, firm and broad. A characteristic sign is a well-developed mount of Luna, lying on the outside of the palm near the wrist. It denotes great love of the sea. If there is a star on this mount, it means danger by water, to which naturally, every sailor is exposed.

A line of Mars, paralleling the line of life, on the inside, shows endurance and protection from great dangers. The sailor's hand contains, also, well-marked travel lines; that is, lines extending from the first bracket and going upward to the mount of the moon, or coming in at the wrist from the side of the hand. If a travel line strongly marked is terminated by a cross appearing on it, that is a sign that a journey will end in misfortune. The line of life of the sailor should be well separated from the line of the head, since such separation signifies plenty of self-confidence.

Cleaning Laces.
The kind of lace that is too delicate to be washed in the usual way can be cleaned in this way. Make a strong soapuds of some good soap, and allow the lace to remain in it for several hours at least, although it is well to shake it out occasionally. A wide-mouthed bottle is most convenient to handle. When the lace is thoroughly soaked, let the soapy water out of the bottle and keep adding clean water until the soap has all been removed from the lace. Do not handle the lace at all; shaking the bottle will rince it thoroughly. If the lace is narrow, wind it round a bottle that has been covered with a piece of soft flannel, and do not remove it until it is dry. If it is too wide to care for in that way, dry it on a large cushion. First cover the cushion with a heavy towel, then pin the points of the lace in place and allow it to dry. It is better not to use steel pins, because of the danger from rust.—Family Journal.

MR. FOX'S NEW SUIT

"I REALLY must have a new suit of clothes," said Mr. Fox, one morning to his wife, "and while I am about it I may as well have a stylish one. I noticed in the fashions that they were wearing the trousers tighter."

"You can't get about very well in tight pants," said Mrs. Fox, "and goodness knows that you are slow enough now about getting food for the family. You better think a little more about work and less about style."

But in spite of all of Mrs. Fox's good advice Mr. Fox got a new suit, and had it made tight-fitting.

"You better put on your old suit of clothes tonight," said Mrs. Fox, as her husband started off with the market basket on his arm. "You know that Mr. Dog up at the hill farm is a very restless sleeper and if he should chase you he might catch you with those tight clothes on."

"I guess I can jump and run faster than lazy old Mr. Dog, even if I am dressed up," replied Mr. Fox, as he slammed the door behind him, for he was tired of hearing so much about his stylish clothes.

As he walked along in the moonlight Mr. Fox looked at his fine-looking shadow and forgot all about his anger, or even about Mr. Dog, and while he was careful not to tear his clothes, he jumped lightly over the wall and went to the poultry-house.

He soon had two plump birds in his basket and over the wall he sprang and started for home, but he had gone only a little way when he heard a bark behind him and, looking around, he saw Mr. Dog in full run coming after him.

Right in front of Mr. Fox was a high rail fence, and for this he ran, feeling sure that he could easily escape Mr. Dog by leaping over it and running home through the woods before Mr. Dog could catch him.

But, oh, how little he reckoned on those new clothes! He forgot he had them on, now he was in danger, but he reached the fence and made the leap and but for a rail that stuck up where they were crossed to hold the fence he might have escaped.

Yes, Mr. Fox leaped, but he did not go over. Instead, he caught by the seat of those new trousers and hung there above the head of Mr. Dog, who by this time had reached the scene and was barking loudly.

Of course, Mr. Fox dropped the basket and the birds were crying loudly as they ran for home, and every second Mr. Fox felt sure the farmer would appear with a gun and he would never see his home and family again.

He jerked and he wiggled and at last the cloth gave way and, luckily, he fell on top of Mr. Dog and knocked him over, and while he was scrambling to his feet Mr. Dog lost no time, you may be sure, in running home.

When Mrs. Fox saw him with the torn trousers and no-basket she was very angry, but she did not say a word. She just took those new trousers, put a big patch of red flannel on the torn part, and when her husband saw that he put on his old ones and never again wore tight pants.

When he goes out at night now he wears a pair that are large enough for him to make a wide leap and not get caught on rail fences.

By MARY MARSHALL DUFFEE

IN THE STREET CAR

Travelers must be content.—Shakespeare.

DOES the well bred man always give his seat to a woman in the street car? This is a question that often comes up for discussion. Now although in New York and some other large northern cities a "good many men who are considered to be well bred do not make a constant practice of getting up for a woman who is standing it is generally regarded as an essential of the well bred man, that is, unless because of age or infirmity he is not well able to do so. When a man does not perform this act of courtesy it is sometimes because he does not notice that women are standing or because in a crowded car he feels that he would inconvenience more persons by attracting the attention of the ones who are standing.

When you do give your seat to a woman you should invariably do so with an air of courtesy. You should raise the hat slightly and say: "Won't you take my seat, madam?" This is the conventional, formal thing to say and really the simple act of offering a woman your seat does not entitle you to any further comment than that.

In entering a car it is usual for men to permit women to precede them but in crowded cities where traffic congestions are intense it is usually congestions of less disturbance if you simply enter the car in the order of your position. In getting out of a crowded car, while a man precedes the woman he is accompanying so that he can help her to alight, he makes no effort to do this for the other women present. However if a feeble or aged woman is alighting from the car he does not hesitate to assist her in alighting. Having performed this little courtesy he raises his hat as she thanks him.

The courteous person does not go his way through the street cars and other public conveyances without keeping his eyes open, for if one attempts to go about entirely taken up with one's own thoughts one is sure to be a very annoying traveling companion.

If you have a wet umbrella you must take care that it does not drip against someone else. If you have a suitcase or other sort of luggage be sure that it is as little annoyance to others as is possible. If you see two persons enter the car when there is a vacant seat beside you and another somewhere else in the car it is courteous to change your seat so that the two friends may be seated next to each other. One woman would do that for two other women or possibly for a man and a woman together if they were obviously engaged in conversation. A man would always do it for two women of a man and a woman for two men. Usually, however, a woman would not thus change seats with two men.

"What's in a Name?"
By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name; its history; meanings; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel.

VIRGINIA

THE real origin of Virginia is curious and somewhat unexpected. It means "fleur-de-lis" and comes from an old Latin gens who called themselves Verginius. Their name was derived in turn from virgo, meaning to flourish, and was connected to the word "ver," translated as spring. Virgilio was the name of the famous Orsini family.

The more popular and prevalent belief regarding the origin of Virginia has always been that she came from the Latin virgo, meaning "a virgin." Indeed, the first instance of her use in England was in the time of Queen Elizabeth when Sir Walter Raleigh, named his American colony Virginia in honor of the Virgin Queen.

It was under a similar belief that Bernadine de St. Pierre called the heroine of his tropical Arcadian romance, Virginia. The widespread popularity of this story in England, France and Germany brought Virginia into enormous vogue throughout Europe. France still adores Virginia, and her popularity is assured forever out of sentimental memory of the famous queen.

The first American colony established the name in this country. Like-wise the first white child born on American soil, and named Virginia Dare did much to spread its vogue. The South has always abounded in Virginias, which, unfortunately, has been contracted to unmusical "Virgins" and "Jinnys."

The emerald is Virginia's talismanic stone. It promises her wisdom, prophetic vision, long youth and charm. The hawthorne bud, England's spring flower, is Virginia's flower. Wednesday is her lucky day and three her lucky number.

MANY ACCIDENTS HAPPEN ON FARM

Falls and Refractory Animals Cause of Hurts That Could Be Avoided.

DIVERS MISHAPS DELAY WORK

Careless Use of Unprotected Machinery Takes Toll of Limbs That Would Be Prevented With Use of Safety Devices.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Farmer Brown was driving the doctor back to town, after he had set neighbor William Johnson's fractured leg and dressed three caved-in ribs. Johnson seemed to be in bad luck constantly, and the neighbors were circulating a subscription paper for him and arranging a "bee" to do up his unfinished work.

Earlier in the season a hold-back broke on a hill. The horse ran away, throwing Johnson to the ground and confining him to bed several days in a busy period.

A little later one of his little boys stepped on a garden rake which had been left back down on the ground, and ran a tine through his foot. The child was taken to the doctor to have the wound dressed, but not until infection had set in, and he would always be a trifle lame.

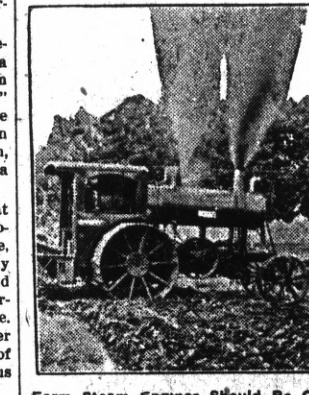

Delays Farm Work.

A hired man stepped through a loose board of a barn loft, and farm and household work was delayed while he recovered.

This latest misfortune was the worst of the season. Johnson had been shingling the barn, using a common prop scaffolding, made by placing wooden brackets against the side of the building and supporting them with two-by-four scantling, set at an angle of 45 degrees and anchored at the foot with stakes and stones. He had undertaken to carry a bunch of shingles to the roof. An upper rung, previously broken from the ladder, had been replaced with a two-inch shingle band, nailed on with eight-penny nails. The wall in the side of the ladder was doxy and the nails gave way under Johnson's weight. The jolt as he struck the next rung up the ladder, and down tumbled Johnson, ladder, scaffolding and shingles, all in a heap on the ground.

"Pretty tough on Johnson," observed Brown. "They talk about farming being a safe and healthful pursuit; but I'll bet he didn't think so when that bunch of shingles pursued him and smashed his ribs."

"Farming is healthful," said the old doctor, "providing people would take reasonable care of themselves. It ought to be safe as any ordinary occupation; but the observations of the United

Farm Steam Engines Should Be Officially Inspected at Least Once Every Year.

States Department of Agriculture and the National Safety council show that every year hundreds of people are maimed and killed in farm accidents, a large part of which are preventable.

"I don't know where some farmers find economy in keeping a horse that will shy at anything and kick anybody who comes near him. Perhaps they like to feel their mastery, but the horse usually gets his tanning in the end. And of course there is danger to inexperienced persons."

"No bull above two years old should be permitted in a pasture, even if he is dehorned, as all bulls should be. Even an ugly ram has been known to kill a man. Savage dogs ought not to be necessary on a farm. But you find them, and often they find you first."

"Farm machinery, such as corn shredders, take a toll of limbs that should be prevented to a large degree if the most ordinary safety devices were installed and kept in working order."

Making Thrashing Safe.

"In some states the boiler inspection laws do not apply to steam thrashers. Every thrashing machine owner ought to have his boiler inspected once a year, whether there is a legal requirement or not."

"I could talk for another hour or so on farm accident-breeders that might be eradicated. A country doctor's practice is full of them; but here we are at the house. Come in to dinner before you go back."

"Much obliged," returned Brown, as he crunched his fliver around in the roadway. "I guess I'll hurry back to the farm and fix up a few things before the neighbors have to get up a 'bee' to tide me over a broken leg."

LIVE STOCK FACTS

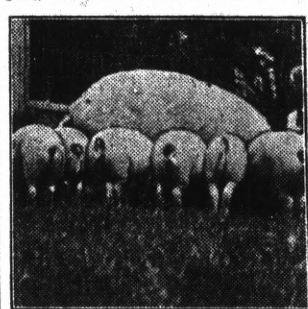

SANITARY SWINE PRODUCTION

Common Intestinal Round Worms Largely Responsible for the High Death Rate Among Pigs.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

What makes the difference between thrifty pigs and unthrifty ones? Naturally, there are many causes, including breeding, feeding and shelter, but a main one and one that may easily be overcome is worms—the common intestinal round worms. These parasites are often largely responsible for the high death rate among young pigs, and many cases of so-called thumps are the result of worm infection. The average farmer, possibly, would give a great deal to be able to stop this loss.

But a new and effective method of worm eradication, devised by the United States Department of Agriculture and used with success by members of the McLean county (Ill.) farm bureau, is available to any farmer who is willing to go to a little trouble, or who visited the government exhibit at the International live stock exposition held at Chicago, November 26 to December 3. There were shown for comparison a pen of wormy pigs and a pen of pigs raised free from worms; the worms themselves, alive and wriggling, were also on exhibition. In one pen was a litter of six pigs that gained during a certain period, because of the parasites, only 171 pounds; in a neighboring pen was another six-pig litter kept on the same feed as the wormy litter, but raised without worms that gained 332 pounds in the same length of time.

This system of swine sanitation to eradicate worms is simplicity itself. First it is necessary to clean the farrowing pens with hot water and lye. Then wash the dirt from the skins of the sows before farrowing and put them in the clean pens. Within two weeks after farrowing remove the sows and pigs to a clean pasture, and keep the young pigs on clean pasture for at least four months. In order to produce strong, healthy, profitable pigs it is, of course, necessary that they have good feed, water and shelter in addition to worm-free surroundings.

FEED GARBAGE ON PLATFORM

Concrete Floors Are Very Satisfactory and Permit of Convenient Cleaning.

Where the garbage is delivered on the farm by wagon or motor truck the best plan is to feed it to hogs in lots of about an acre in size which contain one or more feeding platforms provided with a 2 by 4 ledge on the sides to prevent the garbage from being shoved off the platform. These platforms should be mounted on skids and frequently shifted from place to place in the feed lot. After the material has been unloaded on the platform the hogs are turned into the lot. Where the garbage is delivered in railroad cars it is advisable to have the feeding platforms adjacent to the railroad tracks. Platforms of concrete are very satisfactory and permit of convenient and thorough cleaning.

HOGS REQUIRE LITTLE SALT

Too Large Quantities Derange Stomach and Bowels and Cause Distressful Ailments.

Of the common classes of farm animals, namely horses, cattle, sheep and swine, the latter have the least need of salt. This is in all probability due to the difference in diet, that of the swine usually consisting largely of the usual grain, whereas other classes consume large quantities of roughage in which less salt is found. Too large quantities of salt derange the stomach and bowels of swine, causing gases, diarrhea, convulsions and paralysis, often resulting in death.

HARMFUL TO BREEDING HOGS

Self-Feeders Are Excellent for Market Stock, but for Breeders They Are Not Good.

Self-feeders, while they are fine for market hogs, are damaging to breeding stock. Where pigs have access to a self-feeder they will eat their fill and then snooze until they are hungry and eat again, refusing to exercise and holding back their growth.

FARM LIVE STOCK

SHEEP INDUSTRY PROFITABLE

Necessary to Well-Balanced Agriculture and Pays Well if Herds Are Handled Right.

In this country the sheep industry has had frequent ups and downs, and recently it has been very much depressed, but it is an industry necessary to a well-balanced agriculture and usually it pays fairly good returns when flocks are properly handled. Wool is a staple commodity and mutton is a regular part of our diet, though it is much less used than beef or pork. Conditions in many parts of the United States are excellent for sheep raising and there can be little doubt that with in a relatively short time the sheep will be more profitable than during the past year.

Present conditions of depression are abnormal, just as the period of unusual prosperity was abnormal. There is a surplus of wool on hand in the country now, but it is being used up faster than it is being replaced by production on American farms. Even now mutton and lamb are in sufficient demand so that, in connection with wool, sheep raising is a good business. In the farming areas more attention is paid to mutton making; the range men have given more attention to wool, but now depend more on the returns for lamb and mutton than they have in the past.

PLAN TO MARKET LIVE STOCK

Study of Costs and Methods Being Made by United States Department of Agriculture.

The United States Department of Agriculture is making a study of the costs and methods of marketing live stock, beginning at country points. The work is to be done mainly in a number of selected areas in important livestock sections of the country. The plan is to select areas, usually consisting of several counties, and to study carefully the costs and methods of as many of the existing agencies in each area as can furnish any satisfactory information. The study will include mainly country buyers, local shipping associations, local elevators handling live stock, and independent shippers. In several instances the work is being done in co-operation with the states. A number of men from the department are now in the field collecting data on the subject.

How to Polish Wood.
The article which is about to be polished should first be washed and dried, and then smoothed with glass paper. After this, dust it carefully to free it from grit and dust, and then apply the polishing-pad, using a continuous and even stroke with very little pressure. Gradually work all over the surface, varying the position of the strokes, but be sure to keep them even, and remember that every bit of the wood should receive an equal quantity of polish. This must be continued till the grain of the wood is filled up. Apply the polish and oil, drop by drop, to the pad, and rub in before taking a fresh supply. This process is best done in a warm room where there is no draught from window or door.

Mistress: "What? Want to leave tonight, Mary, and you only came this morning?"
Maid: "Well, you see, you're the thirteenth missus I've 'ad this year, and you're unlucky."
Mistress: "Why, then, did you come?"
Maid: "Cause I 'ad to 'ave a thirteenth. I leave ter-night, mum!"—Family Journal.

Little sister: "I know what 'learnin' by rote' means." Little brother: "So do I. It means learnin' a thing the way the chap wrote it."—Family Journal.

A Party Blunder

A bonus to the members of the Legion should not be decided on by the present congress. The people should be allowed a vote. The entire plan should be laid before the voters. The Republican party, big as it is, can never bear unharmed the approbrium of having laid a burden of perhaps five billion of dollars on the lesser taxpayers, especially when the same congress has relieved the over-stuffed wealthy of many taxes.

Since the foundation of free nations it has been the task and the privilege of their young men to protect their fatherland. They guard the hearths of their parents. It is not well to cheapen these services. Those boys are not mercenaries. They are our best loved children. Every one of them should be given the first opportunity for work and advancement, preference over every one else. Each should be in the fullest sense a ward of a great and generous nation.

No bonus can discharge the nation's debt to them—not even if one was voted to and accepted by them.

It is to be hoped that President Harding will touch the top-notch of greatness in his decision.

One Hundred Thousand Dollars

That is the expense estimated by the Oakland Tribune of the game of "ring-around-the-rosy" which our good neighbors lately engaged in. Invitations and referendums come high, but we must have 'em. A change in the existing law which would require every petitioner for a special election to go personally to the county clerk's office and there sign the petition would tend to limit these expensive performances. If a citizen is in earnest about the matter he would willingly take the trouble to go to the clerk's office and sign up. If the voter doesn't care that much his desire isn't worth attention.

A Proud Head Fallen

Less than ten years ago Hollywood was living up to its beautifully suggestive name; it was a decorous and delightful suburb of a jovous city. Today few careful fathers would dare to locate there. It is not worth while to dwell upon the causes of the disaster which has befallen the lovable little city. It is, far more kindly to appeal to its citizens and its property owners to prompt measures of reformation. A replica of the Groves of Daphne cannot long exist in California. Plague spots will always spasmodically break out along the waterfronts of great cities, but they will exist only to be stamped out by the iron heel of authority.

Hollywood has had her awakening. So too have had the movies. Actors and actresses, managers and directors have ample warning. They know what mistakes have been made. It is up to their men to inaugurate and maintain the reforms.

The liquor dealers received notices which they refused to profit by. Virtuous, moral people are still in the ascendant.

HIGH JUMPING.

Ells--If you stand on the chair and I sit on the piano, perhaps the mouse won't be able to reach us. Eve--But you forgot that this is leap year.

They Have 'Em in Congress

At an hour when problems big with consequences call for solution some busy congressman comes forward with a scheme to upset our calendar, past, present and future by legally establishing a thirteenth month.

Doesn't the first of the month come around often enough as it is? Twelve times in each year the grocer, the landlord, the coal man, the ice man, the garbage man, the butcher, the baker, the candlestick-maker jingle our door-bells.

Who but a congressman longs for a thirteenth visit? Can not that Honorable Gentleman discover some less pestiferous way of insuring to himself immortality?

Marriage Tie Is Weak in Places

Judge Graham grants a young woman a divorce on the ground that her lover represented that he was a wealthy man. Incidentally he gives her this fatherly patting and mild reprimand, and she promised to be good hereafter, the sweet thing!

As long as marriage was held to be a spiritual contract, entered into before the earthly representatives of the Most High God, the ordinary rules applied in the case of commercial contracts did not apply to the marriage covenant. With the sanctioning of marriages solemnized before a justice of the peace—with the constable and an unknown passer-by as witnesses the coarsening of the ceremony began, and has continued until there is about as much solemnity attached to it as to the old time transfer by a Nez Perce Indian of a calico pony to a Chinese packer outfitting for Warrens.

Interesting questions will arise—What assertions will the court hold to be in the nature of warranties? What will constitute fraudulent representations sufficient to avoid the contract? Will protestations of love, and oaths that the ardent one had never kissed anyone in that way before be fatal?

Bosh! Why not admit that divorce proceedings are farces? Judges are but human, and their decisions in time bend before the steady winp of public statement. The marriage obligation is no longer a bond; it binds no one. If it becomes frayed and sordid it falls to pieces.

To Bob or Not to Bob?

Why This Rabid Criticism?

Pursuing dories with sixteen inch guns—Boom! Bang! Zipl! Poppy-pop! A cockleshell of a craft has danced into the sunny opening. Most of us would pronounce her a good hearted mighty pretty little girl, as mindless and irresponsible as she ought to be, as merry as God made her, accumulating in store the sunshine that is later to light a home. In less than a minute school teachers, columnists, caricaturists, goggled professors, solemn writers of leading editorials, assail them, tack on them the title "flappers," and act generally like asses. Imagine Bathhouse John undertaking to describe creatures so ephemeral, and evasively irresponsibly beautiful that no artist's palette could supply the colors for their portraits. Even grave business men assume the roles of hair-dressers, arguing the propriety of these young things bobbing or not bobbing. Apparently only the undergrads keep their shoe brush polls level, and recklessly love the winsome beings, bobbed or unshorn, skirted or trailed, or in only bathing suits.

The Savior in Profane History.

Among the historical references to Jesus Christ which are undisputed is that made by Tacitus, the Roman historian, who on speaking of the Christians said, "The originator of that name had been executed in the reign of Tiberius by order of the administrator, Pontius Pilate." This may be found in the Annals of Tacitus. Reference to Christ is also made in the "Antiquities of Josephus," a Jewish historian, who was contemporary with Christ, but this passage is declared by some to be a forgery.

Albany News

K. J. Miner, world war veteran who served in the marines, has just completed a cozy little cottage next to the Robinson residence in Kains avenue south of Washington. Miner will rent the cottage at present, and later may decide to occupy it himself accompanied by his mother.

The heavy rainfall Thursday was a test for the sewers and gutters and gave them a thorough cleaning out. George Bittick said that the lid on the manhole which ornaments the sidewalk near his store door, would rise and fall with the "tide," and spouted like some of the geysers in Yellowstone Park. The only difference, he said, is in the odor and the assortment of "sundries" emitted.

Little Gertrude, Peacock was given a birthday party last Tuesday afternoon at the Peacock home in Talbot avenue. Mrs. Peacock had decorated the house quite attractively and two tables were set for the 26 guests. Birthday cakes, ice cream and other dainties were served, and games were played by the little guests. Many beautiful gifts were presented to little Gertrude, who was celebrating her eighth birthday.

Judge and Mrs. Paul celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary Thursday afternoon and evening. Only relatives were invited, and Judge says "we had to hang out the 'S. R. O.' sign."

Ancient Grandeur in the Kitchen.

In the days when the Roman empire was at its height, if you went into the culinary department of an elegant establishment you would find saucepans lined with silver and pails of various descriptions richly inlaid with arabesques in silver, and shovels very handsomely and intricately carved. Egg frames, too, that would cook 20 eggs at once, and pastry molds shaped like shells, and an infinite assortment of gridirons, frying pans, cheese graters and tart dishes. The toilet tables of the Roman women were well supplied in the same lavish fashion. Ivory combs, perfumes, cosmetics, hairpins, even an elaborate hair net of gold, have been recently unearthed.
